

Assignment 6A: High-fi Prototype

High Fidelity Prototype

1. Past Appointments (Lab Results) Page:

a) It displays past tartan testing results, which is also the page where the user views his/her past appointments.

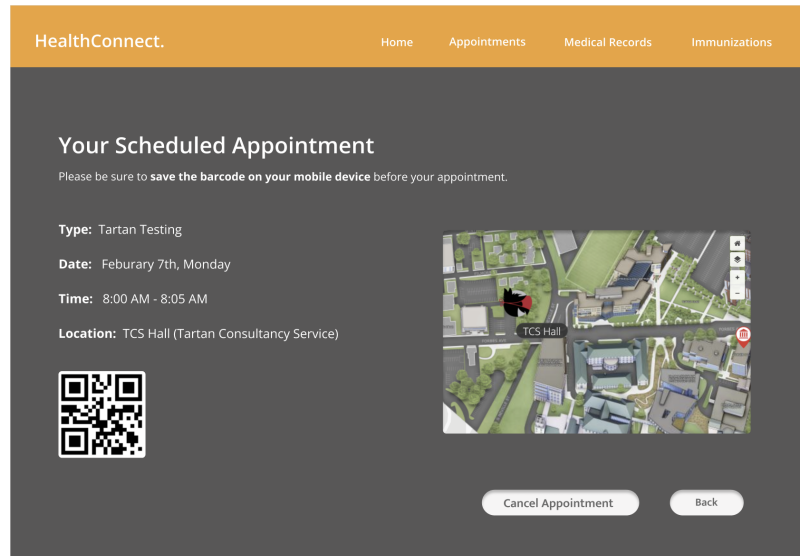

b) It was designed to be displayed in a box with a scroll bar and a lighter background to let the users easily read the content. The result is also in bold text to emphasize.

2. Selected Appointment Page:

a) It displays the details of the user's upcoming appointment, accessed by clicking on the "Appointments" tab on the top menu bar.

b) The format is the same as the display in the confirmation page. The line heights are increased to minimize readers' efforts. An interactive map is shown on the right to remind the users of the location when checking the appointment or saving the barcode.

3. Scheduling Appointment Page (new feature):

a) They are where the user selects type, date, and time of appointment then confirms.

b) The date and time selection are implemented as drop down menus to reduce unnecessary information displayed on the page and keep the view clean. Only available dates and times will be shown in the options. After the user finishes selecting, he/she can continue to the confirmation page which will display their selected appointment details (using functions in JavaScript).

c) The “confirm appointment” button is highlighted in light orange to indicate significance and also to guide the user.

The screenshot shows the 'Select Appointment Type' page. At the top is an orange navigation bar with the text 'HealthConnect.' and four links: 'Home', 'Appointments', 'Medical Records', and 'Immunizations'. The main content area has a dark gray background. It features the title 'Select Appointment Type' followed by two radio button options: 'Tartan Testing (Asymptomatic COVID-19 Testing)' and 'COVID-19 Vaccination'. At the bottom right, there are two light gray buttons labeled 'Continue' and 'Back'.

The screenshot shows the 'Schedule an Appointment' page. It has the same orange navigation bar as the previous page. Below the navigation bar, the title 'Schedule an Appointment' is displayed, followed by a subtitle: 'Select from available timeslots. All health services will be provided at TCS Hall (Tartan Consultancy Service)'. There are two dropdown menus: the first shows 'February 7th, Monday' and the second shows '--select time--'. At the bottom right, there are two light gray buttons labeled 'Continue' and 'Back'.
